Dear Mr. Hall:

I am happy to comply with your request.

Sam Nunn became a United States Senator in 1972, and his service in Washington has set a standard of honor, civility, and distinguished achievement which is hard to match. Sam has built an enviable reputation as a man of courage and principle, never afraid to buck the currents of political fashion for a worthy cause. His honesty, along with an innate sense of courtesy and concern, have earned him the trust of his constituents and the esteem of his colleagues on both sides of the political aisle. In particular, his work in behalf of a strong defense, his concern for our veterans and appreciation for their sacrifice, and his advocacy of bipartisanship in foreign policy have won him wide respect.

Working with men like Senator Sam Nunn was one of the great privileges of my own service as a member of the United States Senate. I salute Sam Nunn and heartily support his nomination to receive the highly regarded AMVETS Silver Helmet Award.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Lyons:

Thank you for your letter of May 1, 1987, expressing your concern about the High Risk Occupational Disease Notification Act of 1987 (S. 79, H.R. 162).

The Administration strongly opposes the current versions of these bills, because they unnecessarily duplicate ongoing Federal efforts to notify workers of hazards in the workplace. The bills could result in substantial litigation, Federal tort liability, and enormous costs to employers, consumers, workers, and the Federal Government.

This position has been conveyed to the Congress through letters from the Secretaries of Labor and Health and Human Services and the Attorney General. The letters advised the Congress that these Cabinet officials would recommend a veto if the legislation were presented to the President in its current form.

I very much appreciate your sharing with me your views on this important legislation.
